LPD Mission Statement

The Lynchburg Police Department partners with our community and protects our citizens, while respecting the rights and dignity of all persons.

“Your police department will continue to serve as a community-focused agency that is highly trained and adaptable to the needs of all. Your ongoing partnership is essential to our success as we protect the diverse fabric of our city.”

- Ryan Zuidema
Chief of Police

A MESSAGE TO OUR COMMUNITY

After a year that presented multiple challenges, the members of the Lynchburg Police Department (LPD) remain dedicated to serving our community with professionalism and empathy. I am extremely proud of the sworn and professional staff who continue to demonstrate a spirit of service every day by partnering with and protecting all Lynchburg residents and visitors. I also want to thank our community for supporting us, holding us accountable, and helping us collectively maintain a safe, welcoming city for all.

The COVID-19 pandemic taught us several lessons as an organization. It required us to become more flexible and creative, but also demonstrated the outstanding level of service our department is able to provide during a sustained public health emergency. We adapted quickly to changes from health professionals and government officials, instituting procedures that prioritized the health and safety of those we interacted with as well as our officers.

As we continued with a “new normal,” the tragic death of George Floyd spurred nationwide protests and calls for police reform. Here in Lynchburg, our great city experienced two nights of riots before several days of peaceful protests brought together many groups to express their vision for a more cohesive future.

We spent several months engaging with hundreds of our residents, listening to their concerns, and understanding their needs for their police department. During six Listening Sessions and dozens of meetings held over the summer and fall of 2020, we heard the importance of these expectations – transparency, accountability, training, diversity, and officer actions and behaviors.

The LPD has maintained the highest level of excellence for decades. I am pleased to report that we had many foundational practices in place well before May 2020 that aligned with community feedback received during these meetings. These include our accreditation by the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies, prioritization of community engagement, comprehensive and advanced training programs, Body-Worn Camera Systems, and mental health partnerships.

Community policing is our organizational philosophy. Working with our residents and business owners ensures we are identifying the most practical and sustainable solutions to issues threatening the safety of our city. Your police department will continue to serve as a community-focused agency that is highly trained and adaptable to the needs of all. Your ongoing partnership is essential to our success as we protect the diverse fabric of our city.

COMING TOGETHER IN A YEAR UNLIKE ANY OTHER

The year 2020 was unlike any other in the history of the law enforcement profession. From a global pandemic to national civil unrest, local riots, and calls for police reform, those 12 months challenged our department like never before. Through it all, the Lynchburg Police Department (LPD) came together as a family with our community to move our city forward.

We were excited to begin 2020 with a plethora of community engagement activities, including celebrating Lynchburg City Schools students who earned bikes through good attendance, grades, and attitudes, and visiting a local nursing home to provide some cheer to residents on Valentine's Day.

Then, in March 2020, all our engagement activities came to a halt when Central Virginia came face to face with the realities of COVID-19. Our officers quickly adapted to the rapid changes that came their way to ensure the safety of our residents, our officers, and their families. We closed our buildings to the public and began taking some calls for service over the phone instead of in person. Officers asked residents to step outside when they were able to maintain six feet while offering assistance.

Operationally, our professional staff provided constant support and creative thinking to ensure our sworn personnel had the equipment to keep themselves and others safe, including gloves, masks, thermometers, and hand sanitizer.

The tragic death of George Floyd on May 25, 2020 sent shockwaves throughout the globe. We stood with law enforcement agencies across the country in condemning the actions that led to his death and issued a statement to our community outlining the expectation for our officers to always respect the rights and dignity of all.

A gathering that began as a peaceful protest on May 31, 2020 turned violent as the skies went dark and individuals began throwing rocks and bricks at our officers, LPD vehicles, and local properties.

During this riot, several officers were injured and our armored vehicle was shot with officers inside. This chaotic scene threatened the safety of all in our city, and these violent acts continued the next night in Miller Park.

We are incredibly grateful that none of our officers or residents were seriously hurt in these riots, and appreciated the support of our local law enforcement partners and the National Guard, who spent the week with us ensuring the safety of our city. Over the next four days, our residents peacefully demonstrated throughout Lynchburg, and we provided escorts and support where possible.

The LPD spent the next six months engaging with our residents to truly understand their needs. We held six Listening Sessions in neighborhoods around downtown to facilitate this feedback. Members of the department also had numerous individual and group meetings with dozens of residents to listen to how they want their police department to serve them.

Although hindered by COVID, we were able to restart some of our community engagement activities in the summer of 2020. The department partnered with the Lynchburg Police Foundation to hold pop-up cookouts at various downtown locations. Officers also helped build a playground and took the initiative to clean up a historic cemetery in White Rock.

LUNCH AND LEARN

As a School Resource Officer, Officer Robert Sacks always has a smile and a helping hand to lend to his students at Linkhorne Middle School, his fellow officers, and all residents of Lynchburg. After serving in the U.S. Marine Corps, Officer Sacks joined the LPD in 2015.

Since then, he has made his mark on both the department and his community. In the Spring of 2020, Officer Sacks' unassuming friendliness brought some hope to our city.

On April 11, 2020, Officer Sacks was patrolling around a shopping center on Wards Road when he noticed a man, who appeared to be homeless, sitting by himself behind a building. Seeing the man alone at lunchtime struck a chord in Officer Sacks. So when he drove across the street to get some food, he doubled his order.

"I just thought - 'How could I make his day better?' I asked him if he wanted to have Chick-fil-A with me. I just wanted to sit on the ground with him and see what he sees," Officer Sacks said.

He took the lunches back to enjoy some fries and conversation with his new friend Chris. Although they were from different areas – Officer Sacks is from New Jersey and Chris is from Amherst – the two found a common interest in baseball.

While they were discussing their favorite teams, someone driving by took a picture of the pair and posted it on a local Facebook group. The post went 'viral,' demonstrating the empathy and understanding displayed every day by LPD officers.

"I just thought - 'How could I make his day better?' I asked him if he wanted to have Chick-fil-A with me. I just wanted to sit on the ground with him and see what he sees."

Although our 2020 National Night Out looked a little different due to the pandemic, we still had a great time enjoying fellowship and engagement with our neighborhood watches.

Weekend surprise! Earlier this summer, Officer Mike Johnson and Officer Austin Rowland were handling a late night call for service when a resident started choking and turning blue. Officer Rowland jumped into action, performing the Heimlich maneuver and saving her life. She recently reached back out to Officer Johnson because she and her daughters wanted to do something special and thank the officer who saved her life. This morning they met up at Old Forest Walmart and the resident and her children surprised Officer Rowland with a balloon, cards, and hugs. We're grateful for the quick action of Officer Rowland and for relationships like this that make our city so special.
